

Kota (12/1/2007)

Kota is the big city in the area, for this reason most tourists don't do much here other than hop on a train. I made a day trip into the city to check out the city's palace and look around. I walked around some of the back streets picking up a mob of children followers. It was interesting that they didn't leave their respective neighborhoods. Once I returned to the main street they stayed behind, like some invisible barrier that blocked everyone below 4 feet tall, entering a new area I would then pick up a fresh batch of kids like a tag team entourage.

City Palace, Kota.

City Palace, Kota.

City Palace, Kota.

Brooms with flies, Kota.

Woman doing laundry,
Kota.

Spices in bulk, Kota.

Kota

Vegetable vendor, Kota.

Kota.

Kota.

Kota.

Wicker stool manufacture, Kota.